

CSAT (MATHS)

CLASSROOM PROGRAM 2026

(Approach is towards building fundamental concepts, enhancing problem-solving abilities, honing analytical skills and fostering critical thinking to excel in UPSC CSAT Paper)

About the Program

The Civil Services Aptitude Test (CSAT), officially known as GS Paper-II, is a qualifying paper in the UPSC Civil Services Examination, where candidates must secure a minimum of 33%. While it covers areas such as Reading Comprehension, Interpersonal and Communication Skills, Logical Reasoning, Analytical Ability, Decision-making, and Problem-solving, the most challenging and decisive portion in recent years has been the Mathematics and Quantitative Aptitude component.

UPSC has steadily raised the difficulty level of questions in numeracy, data interpretation, and logical problem-solving—making it essential for aspirants to have a strong foundation in maths. Many aspirants struggle in this area, despite performing well in other sections, which makes mastering quantitative aptitude crucial for comfortably crossing the CSAT cut-off.

Backed by years of research and exam analysis, VisionIAS has designed the CSAT (Maths) Classroom Program to build conceptual clarity, strengthen problem-solving skills, and align with the evolving expectations of UPSC. The program goes beyond theory to emphasize practice, application, and exam-specific strategies for handling maths questions effectively.
